STORY

Once, many millennia ago, the young, tranquil world of Darius was invaded by a race of star-hopping barbarians under the command of the galactic tyrant, Belser. The peace-loving Dariusites were ill-prepared for such an invasion and most fell quickly. However, before the entire planet succumbed to Belser's domination, a brave young couple, Proco and Tiat, led a resistance effort and managed to escape with many of their fellow Dariusites to sectors of space that were still free.

.....

As the centuries passed, the descendants of this resistance movement multiplied and prospered, and populated many worlds. On Orga, a world of uncommon resources, they established the command center for the Galactic Federation, a governing body that united all the peaceful worlds of their galaxy. After a thousand years, the forces of Belser again decided to expand their empire and headed spaceward to conquer the people who escaped them centuries earlier. Branching ever outward, Belser seized control of even more planets in the solar system.

.....

Inspired by the legends of Proco and Tiat, two of the Federation's best pilots now ready their spacecraft for the long galactic battle that awaits them. These vessels, advanced technological miracles called Silver Hawks, are able to transform energy into powerful weapons and armament. It is your mission to pilot a Silver Hawk, defeat Belser's forces on each of the planets along your selected route, and reach Darius and destroy the formidable Alloylantern, a mechanical fortress from which all of Belser's technological strength springs. Belser's original world remains unknown, but the most noted scientists believe that it was largely oceanic because all of Belser's technology seems patterned after aquatic lifeforms.

USE OF CONTROLLER

It is important to become familiar with the controller as this is a high speed action game requiring split-second reactions and reflexes. The more familiar you are with the controller, the more adept you will be at flying your Silver Hawk.

POWER-UP ITEMS

When certain enemies are destroyed, they release energy pods, or "Power Cubes", that the Silver Hawks can convert to armament. If your ship is destroyed, and you still have reserve ships, you will return with the same power level of weaponry you had at the loss of your previous ship.

POWER SHOTS

Grab this red Power Cube and you will increase the power of your main weapon.

SIDE ARMS SHOTS

Getting this green Power Cube will increase the power of your peripheral weapons.

SHIELDS

Get the blue Power Cube and you will add a layer of protective force-field shielding to your ship.

ANOBBSIUM BOMB

The dreaded Anobbsium Bomb. An explosive force of uncontrollable destruction so great that it wipes out everything within a radius of 10 parsecs. Get this yellow Power Cube and you will destroy everything within view.

1 UP

Grab this orange Power Cube and you'll receive an extra life. This is a rare type of energy and is very precious to all Silver Hawk pilots.

SWITCHING MECHANISM

Get this unusual pod and you will change the type of firepower you have on your main weapon.

POWER SHOT LEVEL

PHOTON POWER DISC

The Photon Power Discs are oval projectiles of considerable destructive force. They are wider than the other type of primary weaponry and are therefore more likely to hit the intended target; but this dissipation makes them less powerful as well.

SEGMENTED LASER WAVE BEAM

This weapon fires segments of concentrated laser beams. It may fire them as thin line segments or, at the more powerful levels, as waves in the shape of boomerangs. The Laserwave Beam is thinner than the Photon Power Discs, so a greater degree of accuracy is required.

However, the Laserwave Beams' energy concentration makes them more powerful.

PERIPHERAL ARMAMENT

The weapons that shoot at angles from the sides of your Silver Hawk are just as important as your primary weapon. As you gather green Power Cubes, you will increase the power of your peripheral arms.

SHIELDS

Each time you grab a blue Power Cube, you will add a layer of force-field energy to your ship's hull. There are three classifications of shield strength: Normal, Super, and Hyper. The Normal classification of shield strength means that you have from one to four layers of force-field energy and is indicated by a light blue shield around your ship. The Super level means you have from five to nine layers and is displayed as a light silver or gray shield around your ship. The Hyper level means ten or more layers and is shown as a gold shield around your Silver Hawk. If one of your ships is destroyed, your next ship will retain the same shield level potential as the previous one' when you get a new blue Power Cube, you will automatically be given the previous ship's shield level plus a layer from the new Power Cube.

Name		Full	Medium	Low
Number of Layers
Normal 1 - 4
Super 5 - 9
Hyper 10 +
